

Cornwall Transit Bicycle Racks

Cornwall Transit buses are equipped with bicycle racks. The bicycle racks are available to use year-round. The use of the rack is at no extra charge.

4 easy steps to follow when using the bike rack

1. Approach:

While waiting for the bus, prepare your bicycle for the trip by removing loose items like water bottles. When the bus arrives, be sure to get the driver's attention to indicate you will be loading your bike. Always approach the rack from the curb.

2. Open:

Hold your bike with one hand and use the other to squeeze the handle and lower the rack.

3. Load:

Lift or roll your bike onto the rack, placing the wheels in the track as indicated on the rack. The first bike should be placed in the furthest position from the bus.

4. Secure:

Lift the support arm and place it over your wheel. Be sure it rests at a level above the hub. Raise it over your wheel as high as it will go but not over the frame of the fender.

Unloading

When you reach your stop notify the driver that you will be unloading your bike. If the rack is empty after unloading your bike, fold it up until it locks in place before you step away from the bus.
